Flower Tubs Bring Spring To The Square

"April Showers make May flowers" actually is a truth for our town.

The Civic Improvement Association committee took advantage of the spring rains and did the indoor planning for the May flower tubs that you see in the green wooden tubs with trailing ivy vines around the Square.

The attractive flowers—red, white, purple and gold—in full bloom were a pleasant surprise to the folks when they first saw them grouping prominent places on the sidewalks on both sides of the Square.

This is the second summer the down-town section has been in bloom. Last season the project was late in getting its initial start. This time the flowers were bursting in full color when they introduced with the Mayor's proclamation the city "Clean Up Week."

Besides the April showers, there are others who made these May flowers possible. The Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity of Murray State College contributed the labor involved in collecting the tubs, delivering them to the florist for planting, and distributing them to their present locations.

The following organizations have contributed $5.00 each to this beautification project: Murray Chamber of Commerce, Murray Dental Society, Young Men's Business Club, Sigma Alpha, Creative Arts, Garden, and Zeta departments of the Murray Woman's Club, Medical Society, Lions Club, Murray Masonic Lodge No. 105, Murray Civitan Club, and the Farm Bureau.

As other contributions are turned in, more tubs of flowers will be added in the down-town area, according to the chairman, Mrs. Herschel Corn. The planning committee is composed of Mrs. Corn, Joe Pat James, president of the CIA, William Davis, treasurer, Mrs. William Nail, and Mrs. Geo. Hart.

Defense Hacks Away At Jones As A Witness

DETROIT (UPI) — Herbert Jones, a crew-cut 29-year-old Tennessee man who once said he would do anything for money, returns to the witness stand for the third straight day today in an afternoon session of the Lassiter murder trial.

Defense attorneys Joseph Louisell and Albert Summer hacked away all day Thursday at Jones' story that he had been hired by the defendants Gordon Watson and Mrs. Nelle Lassiter to kill Mrs. Lassiter's auto dealer husband.

Under cross examination, Jones admitted he never heard Mrs. Lassiter discuss the plot to kill her husband, Parvin. But he maintained that he had discussed the matter with Watson and Roy Hicks.

Hicks, Jones' brother Charles and Richard Nash are serving life sentences for the April 6, 1960 slaying.

Jones said he backed out of the plot in June of 1957. "As long as I have money and whiskey, I don't worry about the months, I have no appointments to keep," he explained.

Mrs. Lassiter and her ex-lover Watson are accused of hiring the three men to kill Lassiter, who was shot death and dumped into a ditch near Willow Run Airport. Jones had testified that he and Hicks discussed various ways of killing Lassiter — shooting, bludgeoning, running over him with an auto, asphyxiating him inside it.

He added another during the cross examination — freezing it would be done, he said, by "knocking him in the head, putting him in the snow and letting him freeze to death."

Wayne County Circuit Judge Joseph G. Rashid scheduled only an afternoon session today because he has other cases pending in the morning.

Kennedy Talks To Astronaut After Flight

By ALVIN SPIVAK

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Astronaut Alan B. Shepard personally reported to President Kennedy by radio telephone today that "everything worked just about perfectly" on his flight into space.

"It was a very rewarding experience for me and the people who made it possible," Shepard told the President.

Kennedy spoke from his White House office to Shepard in the admiral's quarters aboard the Navy aircraft carrier Lake Champlain. The conversation came shortly after Shepard was plucked out of the Atlantic and flown aboard the Champlain by helicopter.

Here is the text of their conversation.

Kennedy: Hello commander.

Shepard: Yes sir.

Kennedy: I want to congratulate you very much.

Shepard: Thank you very much, Mr. President.

Kennedy: We watched you on TV of course and we are awfully pleased and proud of what you did.

Shepard: Well, thank you, sir. As you know by now everything worked just about perfectly and it was a very rewarding experience for me and the people who made it possible.

Kennedy: We are looking forward to seeing you up here, commander.

Shepard: Thank you very much. I am looking forward to it, I assure you.

Kennedy: The members of the National Security Council are meeting on another matter this morning and they all want me to give you their congratulations.

Shepard: Thank you very much, sir, and I'm looking forward to meeting you in the near future.

Kennedy: Thank you, commander and good luck.

The White House announced that Shepard probably will be brought here Monday to confer with Kennedy and receive his congratulations in person.

There was a move afoot in Congress to award Shepard the Medal of Honor—the nation's most coveted decoration.

In a statement issued immediately after the flight, Kennedy said all Americans rejoice in the mission carried out by the heroic astronaut.

Communications Tell Story Of Flight

By United Press International

Reports from the Mercury control center — and from the astronaut — told in tight phrases the story of the epochal flight:

"Ignition."

"Lift-off."

"There it goes."

"Looking good."

"Trajectory okay."

"Pilot in good voice communication."

"Four G's."

"Now out of sight."

"Astronaut okay."

"Taking over manual control of all attitudes... control okay."

From Shepard: "What a beautiful view."

"Voice communications still good."

"Retro rocket package jettisoned."

"Astronaut is working like a test pilot, reporting facts and procedures."

"Going into re-entry attitude."

"Parachute out."

"Spotted by recovery forces."

"The space craft has landed in the sea."

"Astronaut is aboard helicopter."

"Spacecraft is on carrier deck."

"Astronaut is on deck and climbed back in capsule to get his helmet."

"Astronaut Alan B. Shepard is under his own power and doing very well."

Good Catches Of Crappie Reported

FRANKFORT, Ky. (UPI) — The state Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources reported Thursday that good catches of crappie and bass are being offered at Cumberland and Herrington lakes.

Cumberland Lake reports good strings of crappie from most areas of the lake. Bass have been taken by jig fishing at night in the Jamestown area. The main lake is murky but upper tributaries are clearing.

Herrington Lake offers good catches of bass by jig fishing at night. Still fishing has produced large strings of crappie and white bass.

Only a few bass and crappie have been caught at Dale Hollow with the lake clear.

Dewey Lake is high and muddy and falling slowly. Kentucky Lake is murky and clearing. Only a few fish have been caught by still fishermen.

US Leads World In Controlled Space Flight

By ALVIN B. WEBB, JR.

United Press International

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — America's first astronaut leaped 115 miles into space today aboard a spacecraft named "Freedom 7" and won for America and mankind a historic breakthrough: The first flight in space controlled by the pilot himself.

The Astronaut, 37-year-old Cmdr. Alan B. Shepard, Jr., was plucked from the sea 21 minutes later and 302 miles down the Atlantic missile range. He was not only alive but in all respects "okay" and thousands were witnesses to the fact of his feat.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration NASA happily announced: "The space flight is a success."

Another spaceman, Russia's Yuri Gagarin, had apparently gone higher and farther and faster. But Alan Shepard was the first man in history to exercise control over the motions of a craft he was riding in space.

Said NASA while the 37-year-old Navy commander was still in space: "He is working as a test pilot."

On Redstone Missile

Shepard and Freedom 7 rose from launch pad 5 at 10:34 a. m. (EDT) on the nose of a 66,000-lb. Redstone missile. The launch, postponed since Tuesday, came 2 hours and 34 minutes after the planned shot time of 8 a. m. (EDT).

Seven "holds" delays, many for weather and one to change an electrical part in the Redstone, had kept the rocket earthbound while Shepard lay strapped to his couch aboard the Little Mercury.

He had been sealed into the cabin at 7:07 a. m. (EST). He lay there three hours and 27 minutes before the tension-breaking announcement, "Lift-off," came from the Mercury control center.

Trip Was Perfect

But once started, the flight went perfectly. Second by second NASA reported what was going on aboard the Freedom 7. Almost before those waiting on the cape could catch their breath after watching the Redstone's beautiful flight until it was out of sight, the word came at 10:58 a. m. (EST) that a helicopter had plucked Shepard out of the ocean and was bearing him and his space couch to the aircraft carrier Lake Champlain.

Then came the word that Shepard was on the deck "under his own power and doing very well." Shepard during much of his ride put the capsule through various maneuvers. He changed the way it pointed in space. He controlled its pitch, roll, and yaw.

Made Regular Reports

He reported what was happening to him when gravity forces multiplied his weight some six times during powered flight and 11 times when he came back down through the atmosphere. But throughout the physical stresses and the mental strain of watching or operating more than 100 instruments, Shepard reported back constantly by voice radio that everything was "okay."

After extending a periscope he reported exultantly: "From 115 miles up he could scan the azure Atlantic and Caribbean with their green islands and the southern coast of the United States as far as Cape Hatteras, N. C."

And when he returned home to earth again, aboard the carrier Lake Champlain, he jauntily reentered spaceship "Freedom 7" to retrieve the pressure helmet he had doffed during the helicopter recovery.

In Excellent Condition

Electronic sensors fixed to Shepard's skin kept medical monitors in the ground control center here constantly informed about his breathing, heartbeat, and temperature. Their one-word report of his condition: "Excellent."

Three hundred seconds after lift-off he reported the flight was going "very smooth." Seven min-

Situation Is Changed For Jay And Mossi

By FRED DOWN

United Press International

Unwanted yesterday and unhit-table today — that's the ironic story of the 1961 season as far as Joey Jay of the Cincinnati Reds
 and Don Mossi of the Detroit Tigers are concerned.

The minors yawned for both Jay and Mossi only a few months ago but today they're key reasons why the Cincinnati Reds are one of the surprises of the National League and the Detroit Tigers are clinging tenaciously to a share of first place in the American League.

Jay, obtained from the Milwaukee Braves last winter, pitched a one-hitter as the Reds beat the Philadelphia Phillies, 4-0, for their fifth straight victory on Thursday night while Mossi, a huge questionmark because of a possible lame arm, tossed a two-nitter to pace the Tigers to a 6-0 victory over the Washington Senators.

Jay's shutout reduced his earned run average to 2.87 while Mossi scored his third straight win without a loss and cut his era to 1.91.

Giants Beat Cubs
 The San Francisco Giants retained first place with a 9-3 victory over the Chicago Cubs behind Sam Jones' five-hitter and the Braves scored a 10-6 win over the Los Angeles Dodgers on Joe Adcock's 10th inning grand slam in other National League games. In the American League, the New York Yankees whipped the Minnesota Twins, 5-2, and the Baltimore Orioles beat the Los Angeles
 Angels, 8-7, in 13 innings.

Jay yielded a first-inning single to Johnny Callahan and then struck out eight batters. It was Jay's first win of the year—primarily because in three previous starts the Reds had failed to score
 a run for him. Gary Cueman drove in three runs for the Reds with two doubles and a single to help hand Art Mahaffey his second loss against two victories.

Mossi allowed only a seventh-inning single to Gene Green and a ninth-inning single to Willie Faubus. Norm Cash had three hits and Art Mahaffey had three hits and Norm Larker had three for the Tigers.

Eighth For Adcock
 Adcock hit the eighth grand slam of his career to give Carlton Willey his first victory of the season after the Dodgers went ahead in the top of the 10th on a homer by Gil Hodge. Lee Maye drove in two runs and Frank Bolling and Hank Aaron and Roy McMillan
 each for the Braves while Norm Larker had three for the Dodgers.

Mickey Mantle crashed his ninth homer in the sixth and Whitey Ford picked up his fourth win as the Yankees completed a three-game sweep of the Twins. Mantle, who also had a single, increased his consecutive game hitting streak to 16 games and took over the American League lead in both homers and runs batted in. Jim Coates cleaned up behind Ford,
 who retired because of a cold,
 with three innings of one-hit shutout relief.

How many men have you in the kitchen at present?
 "Fourteen, sir."
 "Where are the remainder?"
 "Absent with the acting commanding officer, sir—Lieutenant Mainwaring."
 "How many of them went
 with him?"
 "Fourteen, sir."
 "When did they leave?"
 "Nine days ago, sir."
 "Where did they go?"
 "I am not sure, sir. All I know is that the lieutenant said that things were quiet enough around here, so he would take the platoon and go out to find some action."

Strategy Is The Word Today As

Fifteen Three Year Olds Make Up Starting Gate For 87th Derby

By RAY AYRES

United Press International

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UP) — The field for the 87th Kentucky Derby was set at 15 and the starting alignment fixed by post, but owners, trainers and jockeys still huddled today over strategy for Saturday's running of the $163,000
 turf classic.

There was no secret session between Jack Price, who conditions

Wood Memorial at Aqueduct,
 beating Carry Back, Kelly has
 been studying charts.

He poured over the fractional
 times in which previous Kentucky
 Derbys were run to determine
 how fast the early stages had
 been timed and the results produced.

Kelly has decided to "send him"
 and predicts that "any horse that
 tries to go with Globemaster will
 be wiped off the board."

This is a risky plan in a mile
 and one-quarter race but it has
 worked many times in the past.

"That is the way Globemaster
 won the Wood," Kelly points out.
 A glance at the past performances of the horses entered Thursday in the Rose Run reveals that
 several others also are endowed
 with "natural speed" and their
 trainers undoubtedly will instruct
 the riders to take full advantage
 of it.

Out With Rush
 Thus Johnny Longden, who
 numbers one Kentucky Derby victory among the more than 5,500
 races he has won, will come out
 with a rush with Four-and-Twenty, the Santa Anita Derby winner.

Brudie Baeza of Panama will try the same tactics with Crozier, second choice to Carry Back at 3-1. That was the way Baeza rode Crozier in the Derby Trial on Tuesday, dogging the front runner Four-and-Twenty all the way until deep in the stretch. There Crozier left his rival with ease and streaked under the wire in 1:34 3-5 for a mile, a record performance.

Robert Nemo also rides a nimble-footed colt in Light Talk, a fast-breaker who led all the way in winning the Stepping Stone Purse on opening day at Church-hill Downs.

Another horse with early speed is Dearborn who, in the No. 1 post position, is in a perfect spot to make the most of his rapidity out of the starting gate.

Sellers is likely to let the
 "speedball" roll on their merry
 way for he is counting upon Carry Back's stretch punch to carry him
 to victory.

Won't Reveal Plans
 Harold Young, who trains Sherluck for Jacob Sher, has no intention to reveal the instructions
 he will give Eddie Arcaro when he lifts "The Master" into the saddle on Saturday.

But it's pretty obvious the classic way to win this classic race is to get a favorable position early, within striking distance of the pace, and then make a bid for it in the run home," he said.

Price was referring to Carry Back's victories this year in the Everglades, the Flamingo and the Florida Derby.

Not was Tom Kelly, trainer of the $80,000 Globemaster, any longer concerned with battle
 plans.

Sellers, never in a hurry to move Carry Back to the front, easily could trail the field for almost six furlongs along with Dr.

 Miller and Bass Clef. But Sellers is more likely to try for a spot
 closer to the front.

If these late runners make it,
 they will have to "come out of the clouds." And that has been done before too.

There was no secret session between Jack Price, who conditions

Wood Memorial at Aqueduct,
 been studying charts.

He poured over the fractional
 times in which previous Kentucky
 Derbys were run to determine
 how fast the early stages had
 been timed and the results produced.

Kelly has decided to "send him"
 and predicts that "any horse that
 tries to go with Globemaster will
 be wiped off the board."

This is a risky plan in a mile
 and one-quarter race but it has
 worked many times in the past.

"That is the way Globemaster
 won the Wood," Kelly points out.
 A glance at the past performances of the horses entered Thurs-
 day in the Rose Run reveals that
 several others also are endowed
 with "natural speed" and their
 trainers undoubtedly will instruct
 the riders to take full advantage
 of it.

Out With Rush
 Thus Johnny Longden, who
 numbers one Kentucky Derby victory among the more than 5,500
 races he has won, will come out
 with a rush with Four-and-Twenty, the Santa Anita Derby winner.

Make It Your Room

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

If you live in an apartment house or a housing development where floor plans are similar, it's always fascinating to visit neighbors and see what others have done with the same space allotted to you. Though room layouts are identical and even furniture groupings may be similar, two rooms seldom look alike! What creates the difference? Color schemes and furniture styles, of course, and, surprisingly enough, accessories, too! They provide the touches that make a room take on the personality of its owners.

Big furniture pieces are the main consideration when you're furnishing a home. They get first thoughts. But don't forget that little things also count. They're finishing touches that are all-important, so take time and care in selecting them.

Accessories include a wide range of things—some, like paintings and statues, purely decorative; others, such as lamps, clocks and ash trays, functional as well. Each important! Choose accessories that reflect your interests.

A painting, for example, should never be bought because it happens to fit the color scheme. Pick the painting that means something to you, that you'll enjoy looking at.

Vacation Scenes
A friend of ours, for example, has hung her walls with paintings that show scenes of various vacation trips. They're admired, recognized and sure-fire conversation pieces.

They're Personal!
A collection of demitasse cups or antique auto models can be far more effective in a decorative sense than a grouping of attractive but meaningless figurines! The cups and auto models have appeal because they're personal.

Do some paper work when you're decorating. Before you begin, rough out the scheme, one that allows for accessories that will make it YOUR room!

THE SAME low-cost Japanese hardwood paneling as is used in the Americana room is featured here, but painted fireplace and Oriental accessories create a complete change.

STORM of LIFE

"If only I could get out from under, get away from it all, find some island of peace..."

Like everybody else, we want to escape our problems and pressures. We are seeking calm away from the storm of life.

But we can't escape from life. We can't run away from the storm but we can find calm in the storm. When a hurricane sweeps across the countryside, its circling winds lashing out in destruction, there is always in the center, an area of quiet. In the eye of the storm there is calm.

Faith is not an escape, a running away into religion. It is finding the presence and adequacy of God to face life triumphantly. It is finding an inner center of peace while the winds blow outside.

The Church points the way to peace. It helps us to find the inner experience of faith.

"I have found my island... an island of peace in my heart. I have found calm... the calm of God in the storm of life..."

BELIEVED SHOT TO DEATH—A big hunt is on in the Holland, Mich., area for Carol Lee, 11, and (right) Margaret Chambers, 12, who went off to pick wild flowers and did not return. Also missing was James Stephens, 16, a Boy Scout patrol leader who lives two blocks from the girls' homes. He left a note saying he was sorry he shot two persons.

OLD, OLD STORY—This is a dramatic moment in an old, old story as Mrs. Ruth Oldham (left) and Bonnie Baker, 28, secretary to her late husband, pass each other at courtrooms door in Los Angeles. A few months before R. P. Oldham died, he changed his will to leave the secretary half of his $100,000 estate. The widow charges undue influence.

PSYCHOSOMATIC SPECIALIST Dr. Leonard L. Lovshin of Cleveland Clinic lists those as some of the tell-tale signs of over-emotionalism in women. The fact that you are partial or susceptible to one of these "symptoms" does not mean you necessarily are the highly emotional type, but they are dependable signs, says Dr. Lovshin, to the physician who is trained to look for physical signs of emotion-caused illness.
